

INDIA MAHDAVI

10 Things That Make Me Happy

The Tehran-born, Paris-based designer will release her long-overdue first monograph next year, featuring her brightly colored and oft-Instagrammed projects like the Gallery at Sketch in London.

01

02

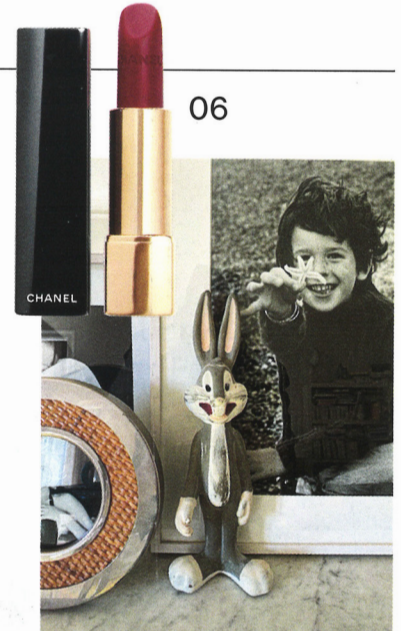

03

04

05

06

07

08

09

10

1. My new showroom at 29 Rue de Bellechasse—a volumetric canvas where I can experiment and explore in three dimensions.

2. The paint palette I conceived for Atelier Mériguet-Carrère is tried-and-true: I have used these hues, full of light and softness, in many of my signature projects.

3. After discovering Alberto Sorbelli's work, I was immediately struck by his ambiguous visions of flowers, so hybrid they could be mistaken for strange creatures. Drawing by Alberto Sorbelli

4. This brass piece, which I purchased from an antiques dealer in Los Angeles, serves as a constant reminder that asking questions is sometimes more important than having answers.

5. An elegant electric Moustache bicycle is my loyal companion on numerous imaginary journeys during lockdown. Lundi 26.1 Bike moustachebikes.com

6. Part of why I love this Chanel lipstick is because it's from the Velvet collection, and velvet has always been one of my favorite materials. It captures and reflects light in a unique way. Rouge Allure Velvet Lip Colour $38 chanel.com

7. Bugs is a childhood buddy. I bought him at the Paul Bert Serpette flea market on a rainy Sunday, and he has had a special place in my bedroom ever since. His little face melts my heart.

8. The mid-heel height of these Prada sandals makes for the perfect balance between comfort and style. Brushed Leather Sandals $870 prada.com

9. I can't get enough of the view from my kitchen window. The company Le Vert à Soi created a Persian garden with jasmine, pomegranates, and geraniums that reminds me of paradise.

10. A fair-trade embroidered cushion from my collection with Monoprix brings all the good fall vibes. Embroidered Cushion by India Mahdavi x Monoprix $34 monoprix.fr